ARCHITECTURE FOR THE MASSES

Architect & Urbanist

SUBHASHREE NATH

Subhashree Nath is an alumna of USAP and currently in the final semester of her master's degree in Integrated Urban Design and Development from Bauhaus University. She is the co-founder of Delhi based studio Habitat Design Collective which practices the principle that good design should be affordable and accessible for all, being in unison with the natural environment. The collective believes that well-designed spaces have a transformational quality, positively affecting the well-being of the inhabitants and the surroundings of the created Habitat. She is also currently involved as a research assistant with the Helmholtz Centre for Environmental Sciences, Germany.
